MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, Foreign Broadcast Information Service
THROUGH: Chief, Operations Group
SUBJECT: ~~Tel Aviv~~ Monthly Report -- Tel Aviv Bureau -- March 1985

I. GENERAL

The bureau was evacuated on 29 March due to a bomb threat.

II. OPERATIONAL

A. Monitorial/Editorial

HEBREW SECTION

It was a relatively slow month for the Hebrew section. Withdrawal from Lebanon and the attendant attacks on the IDF and the IDF's retaliatory actions continued to be the subject of speeches and commentaries. The biggest attack, one that apparently encouraged the Israelis to speed up withdrawal considerably ahead of the originally talked about date of September, took place just north of Metulla, when a car bomb killed 12 IDF soldiers.

There was continued attention to the subject of talks with a Jordanian-Palestinian delegation: who would be in it, who would talk to it, and what would it talk about. The Israeli cabinet again called for direct negotiations without PLO participation and without the delegation's prior talks with the United States.

Tel Avi Bureau's first contribution to the Cities Project, a videotape of Jerusalem television's 28 March evening newscast in Hebrew, was airshipped to Headquarters in slightly over 24 hours

III. ADMINISTRATION

A. Personnel

A 13.2% cost of living increase was granted to all Israeli workers as part of phase two of the economic package deal.

Nicosia Bureau Senior Arabic/Hebrew Monitor departed 24 March after a month's refresher course in Hebrew monitoring.

Bureau's efforts to hire a seventh Hebrew monitor were once at the last minute.

B. Buildings and Grounds

Activity surrounding the new bureau centered on the arrival of major items ordered from abroad. The bureau's new microwave system arrived and is being kept in local storage until installation preparations can be completed. The special bullet-proof entrance door has been lifted to the 15th floor, and, as soon as it is installed, the bureau will be able to store goods in the office space. At month's end the York Borg-Warner HVAC unit was in Haifa awaiting delivery on 1 April to the Migdalor Building. An order for a modern EPABX telephone system has been placed with a local electronics firm, and meetings with Ministry of Communications officials to coordinate telephone line requirements are continuing.

IV. VISITS

the bureau from 4 to 7 March.
